

War News.

The Boers in overwhelming force strike their fortunes on one Great Battle. The fight expected to take place at Ladysmith today. Their guns are posted 2-3 miles from the British Lines. Gen. Buller in Command. British Plan and Discipline will be put to a supreme test. Making on fire, but no Surrender.

Winnipeg, Oct. 30, '99.

The indications point to a strong attack by the combined Boer forces on Ladysmith today. Big guns have been mounted by the enemy 4,500 yards from the British camp, and all preparation have been made for a grand assault under General Joubert.

The British troops had several skirmishes with the enemy, but it was impossible for them to draw the Transvaal and Free State forces out from their positions. The situation is critical.

On the west side of the Transvaal it is stated that Mafeking is burning, but the report is not confirmed. The place was bombarded for three days last week and little damage was done.

There will be no European intervention in the Transvaal war, this has officially been decided on.

LADYSMITH, 11:50.

Firing commenced at 5:30 this morning the Boers shelling Ladysmith with forty pounders. After seven shots the British succeeded in silencing the Boer guns. A force of Boers is now advancing on the British left flank.

[The foregoing is the latest news that could be secured up to 3:30 to-day; leaving the result of the battle unknown.]

Successful Sortie at Kimberley.

The garrison at Kimberley made a sortie on Tuesday and completely routed the enemy. The Boer losses are described as very heavy. Scott Turner's force consisting of local volunteers, with the Lancashires, completed the route of the Boers. Murray's artillery had driven them out of their entrenchments. The fight lasted four hours. Before the sortie Kimberley was apparently in high spirits as the despatch from there adds: "Great enthusiasm has been aroused by the news of British successes in Natal. Several farmers in the neighborhood of Kimberley have been noticed in the ranks of the Boers. The Boers concentrating in Natal."

The Boers are concentrating their forces in Natal feeling that it will require all their strength to dislodge the British from their positions previous to the arrival of Gen. Buller. Gen. Cronje has been recalled from the west to help in the movement.

The Canadian Contingent.

Col. Sam Hughes, M. P., will not accompany the Canadian contingent in a military capacity, but will go in hopes of receiving a position on imperial corps.

INSPE. SNYDER went down to Lacombe on Saturday in connection with the Hagel murder case and returned the same evening. The fourth train makes it possible to visit Red Deer and points this side and return the same day.

Winnipeg Telegram: "C. O. Swanson, of the Immigration department arrived yesterday morning from Waterville, Quebec, accompanied by Mrs. Swanson, and later proceeded west on business connected with his department."

Free Press: "Six families with six carloads of effects arrived in the city Friday from South Dakota. The families will settle in the Wetaskiwin district, having sold out their farms in Dakota. A big exodus is expected from the south this fall and in the spring."

Winnipeg Tribune: "Mr. and Mrs. John McDougall, and Miss McDougall, of Edmonton, arrived on yesterday's train from the west, and are at the Leland. They are on their way to Europe where they will travel for two months, hoping to be back before Christmas."

In the mention made in last issue of the death of Mrs. Sutherland of Chipewyan, her age was incorrectly stated as 31. It should have been 21. The deceased was a daughter of Colin Fraser, trader at Chipewyan, and one of the pioneers of Edmonton where Mrs. Sutherland was born.

McDUGALL & SKEWER will build a large steam boat at the Landing in the spring. The logs have already been cut and floated down to the Landing by Colin Johnston, where they will be sawn into lumber by the H. B. Co.'s mill. The boat will ply on the upper reaches of the Athabasca river and as far down as Grand Rapids.

The three steamboats on the waters of the Athabasca belonging to the Alaska Trading and Transportation company were disposed of at sheriff's sale on Saturday. McDougall & Skewer were the purchasers. The steamer at the Landing brought $400, the one at Smith $300 and the one at McMurray $60. Total $760.

Free Press Oct 23: "Hon. Clifford Sifton minister of the interior: Hon. William Paterson, controller of customs, and Mr. R. Lagan, M. P. for Cumberland, N. S., D. C. Fraser, M. P. for Guysboro, N. S., arrived in theory on Saturday by the Pacific express, on a tour of western Canada. The party were greeted at the depot by a number of prominent citizens. Mr. Sifton being given a particularly hearty welcome. Mr. Sifton and Mr. Paterson will address a meeting at Portage la Prairie on Monday, and on Tuesday they will speak in this city, and on the following day they speak at Neepawa. Messrs. Mr. Evans, boiler inspector, arrived here this morning to inspect the Fort Saskatchewan Milling Co's boiler.

THE BRIDGE.

The north pier of the bridge was completed on Saturday. This is quick work. The Dominion Bridge Co. are to be congratulated on having the services of a pusher like Mr. Stewart. The iron for the two south spans is on the ground, and the work of placing it will proceed at once, but cannot be hurried as the new concrete work has not yet had sufficient time to harden.

FROM LESSER SLAVE LAKE.

W. H. CARSON arrived from Lesser Slave lake on Saturday, coming by the trail over the Swan hills. The road improvements of last season did good, but more are needed. From the Athabasca river to the Sealoux river the road is now fairly good. Winter travel however will go by the Landing, as the road is more level. Mr. Carson left Lesser Slave lake on Wednesday the 18th. The lake was not frozen over and ducks and geese were very plentiful. Small lakes were frozen. There was sleighing at the lake on the 18th, and Mr. Carson used sleighs to the Landing. The snow was quite deep in the Swan Hills. The ferry had been taken out of the Athabasca, but Mr. Carson had it put in again in order to cross. There has been very little travel over the road this season as it has been in very bad condition.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, OCT. 30TH, 1899

SELECTED IMMIGRATION.

The Minister of Justice during his recent tour in the west took occasion to boom Galician and Doukhobor immigration. He held that such an immigration strengthened the Dominion financially and politically. The Free Press and its yokefellow the Regina Leader laid all possible stress on the utterances of the minister, as though they were conclusive evidence on the question,—as though people should believe what the minister said rather than what they themselves saw and know. Fortunately for the Northwest the government was wiser than the minister, as shown by the following Ottawa despatch of October 17th appearing in the Free Press:

The department of interior has under way new regulations in respect to continental immigration. In future none will be accepted as immigrants, in other words no bonus will be given to shipping companies, unless the immigrant has $100 after paying his ticket. Some districts such as Buckawanie, are mentioned from which it is desirable that no immigrants be solicited.

The BULLETIN wants no better endorsement of the position it has taken on the immigration question than is contained in the above despatch. It has contended strongly for selected immigration. That it was not only the right but one of the most important of the duties of the government to take precautions against the admission of undesirable population. For a long time it seemed to be alone in the stand it took. Such a view was declared to be un-British, it was retrogressive and worst of all it was not in accord with the policy of the government. The propriety of the method or sufficiency of the means taken by the government to select immigrants is of course a matter for discussion, but there is no question as to the adoption of the principle of selection as a part of the government policy.

MR. BOURASSA'S RESIGNATION.

H. Bourassa, M. P., has addressed a letter to the premier in which he explains the reasons for his resignation from parliament. Mr. Bourassa is a supporter of the Laurier government. He explains that although still having full confidence in the general policy and administration of the Laurier government he resigns as a protest against the sending of a Canadian contingent to the Transvaal. His grounds of objection are: 1st, organizing and incurring expenses connected with a military force without sanction of parliament; 2nd, supporting the Empire by force of arms while not having representation in the Imperial parliament. Mr. Bourassa explains that he is ready to support the Imperial authority throughout Canada, but loyalty to Canada will not permit him to support service to the Empire outside of Canada.

As a matter of law and logic probably Mr. Bourassa has the best of the argument, but his law and his logic do not take account of the change of conditions in late years as between Canada and the Empire and as between the Empire and the rest of the world. While invoking the letter of British constitutional law he forgets the fundamental principle of that law; namely that it is abstract right applied to existing conditions, not a statement of principles governing those conditions. The question is not: Whether existing laws or usual practice is being followed. It is: Has Canada a living and substantial interest in upholding British prestige? If so, there is only one way in which Canada can aid in upholding that prestige under existing circumstances and that is by spending blood and money and spending both freely. It is the act of spending that strengthens Britain rather than the amount that is spent. Thank God the time is not yet that a thousand men from Canada means much in Britain's total fighting force. It is the willingness of the men to go and of the country to send them, and particularly its not standing on ceremony in doing so—the very feature that Mr. Bourassa objects to—that gives the Canadian contingent value, and strengthens the Empire in the face of the world. It is in the idea that there is plenty more of men and money behind that the value lies. While Mr. Bourassa would await the meeting of parliament and argue fine spun theories before acting, his waiting might be misinterpreted by outsiders as unwillingness to support the Empire. Of what use would Mr. Bourassa's fine spun theories regarding constitutional law be should Russia for instance triumph in the great world struggle for supremacy that has been in prospect for the past twenty years, and to which the Boer war may well be the prelude?

The world is not as big as it used to be. Steam and electricity have shortened distance so that it is not a protection now as it once was. The most distant members of the Empire are not now so far apart for purposes of government as were Land's End and John o' Groat's a few hundred years ago. The Transvaal is nearer Canada to-day than British Columbia was to Montreal in 1860. The interests of any part of the Empire are the interests of every part of the Empire, so long as the Empire stands for liberty, progress and civilization above all the powers of the world. If it does not stand for these things it is not worthy of support in Canada or out of it. If it does, then it is worthy of support wherever support is needed, and it is in Canada's own best interest that the support should be given quickly and without stint.

ONTARIO'S RECENT PREMIER.

The retirement of Hon. A. S. Hardy from the premiership of Ontario is accepted at large without regret, except in so far as failing health may have been a contributing cause. The ex-premier was unfortunate in that he had the reputation of being the wicked partner in the Mowat government. This reputation stuck to him when he became premier, and it is not unfair to say that the disclosures of the election methods pursued by Mr. Hardy's friends in sundry bye-elections since that time have not by any means cleared his reputation. The principal trouble with Hon. Mr. Hardy however has been that as premier he was just no good—he wasn't big enough for the position. An excellent lieutenant, but not a general. Whatever he might have been had he attained to the premiership earlier in life, he had served too long an apprenticeship in the arts and practices of the mere politician to ever fill the place of a statesman, especially a statesman of the calibre of Sir Oliver Mowat. Ontario is too big and too progressive to be ruled successfully on the principle of Smart Alex expedients; which were the late premier's principal stock in trade. At the last general elections he went to the country with a good majority, and a clean record for his government. His opponents were not his equals in ability and they had absolutely no policy, and yet he was very nearly beaten, although he had the prestige and active aid of the Dominion government on his side. Since then he has done nothing to retrieve his government in the public estimation, and at last it became a clear case that either he had to get out or the government would be put out. Indeed it may be that he has delayed too long already to allow of his successor sailing the ship successfully. There are suggestions to be found in Hon. Mr. Hardy's public career, and particularly in its finish, which may be of value to others if properly understood and availed of. The principal of these is that mere smartness is no good by itself in Canadian public life. There must be purpose and reputation or the smart one comes to the ground like a kite without a tail.

RETURNING PROSPECTORS.

Nine returning prospectors reached town from different points in the north on Friday. With the exception of three boat loads now on the way out these are the last of the prospectors who went in by the river routes and returned without going through. Their names are: Chas. Cottrill, Dundas, Ont.; Chas. Roberts, Lesser Slave lake; Chas. Thomas, Chas. Tapp, United States; Chas. Westhead, Buffalo lake; Chas. Steedman and partner Waldie, of Assiniboia, and Messrs. Veitch and Symons, Winnipeg. By a peculiar coincidence six out of the nine men are "Charleys". Mr. Tapp went out with the Yukon Valley Co. when it was under the leadership of "Capt." Willis. He was the bugler of the party and is an expert performer on the cornet. Messrs. Steedman and Waldie went in by the Prince Albert-Green lake route.

The three boats which are now on the way out should be about at Grand Rapids now. They may experience considerable difficulty in tracking on account of shore ice forming.

F. A. Algar, of Ponoka, has been appointed a commissioner for taking affidavits.

A court of the Independent Order of Foresters has been instituted at Ponoka.

Ed. Williams and family will move out to the Landing tomorrow, where Mr. Williams is starting a feed stable.

The Globe has published a neat and useful colored map of South Africa. It is by all odds the best thing of the kind published since war broke out.

The Fort Saskatchewan Milling Co.'s steamer Minnow has been taken out of the water and laid up for the winter. The water has fallen too low to permit of further traffic this season.

The Northwest Gazette, of Oct. 14th, contains the appointment of A. C. Kemmis, of Alameda, as commissioner for taking affidavits, and of Sgt. A. F. M. Brooke, of Glenora, to be stock inspector.

Calgary Herald: A. and Carl Johnson, John Endstrom, Charles W. Vestrom, wife, two sons and three daughters, Eric Bergstrom and J. Kelly and wife and Louis Junt went north to Wetsakwin on the 23rd to settle.

Calgary Herald: The application of Mr. Sifton to set aside the petition filed against his return by Dr. Brett was dismissed by Justice Scott. It is understood that an appeal from the judgment will be taken to court on banc.

Potter & McDougall have removed their auction rooms to their new premises on McAllister street opposite McCauley's stables.

Heavy, wet snow is reported in Manitoba. On October 13th the snowing was further advanced there than in this district.

The Gallagher-Hull, Meat & Packing Co., (Ltd.), applies for incorporation in the latest issue of the Canada Gazette. The capital stock is $75,000 in 7,500 shares of $10 each. The applicants are: C. Gallagher, Edmonton; R. Hull, Calgary; J. S. Willmott, Edmonton; E. J. Gallagher, Edmonton; and D. W. Gillis, Calgary.

Calgary Herald: The Northwest executive has decided to make a radical change in the administration of the liquor license ordinance. F. A. Bagley, of Calgary, has been appointed license inspector for the whole district of Alberta, and the western portion of Assiniboia, and has notified the license holders in his district that he intends to carry out strictly the provisions of the ordinance. It is stated that the services of the local inspectors in the district are to be dispensed with at the end of the present month.

E. W. Stevens, C. P. E. land valuator, and D. Fulton, returned to town on Thursday after a three months tour of inspection of the lands in the vicinity of the saddle lake, St. Paul and north to Lac la Biche. The amount of excellent agricultural land in the district traversed was a revelation.

Northeast of Victoria lies an ideal ranching country. Thousands of tons of natural hay could be cut, in fact the supply would seem to be inexhaustible. In and around the colony of St. Paul de Metis the country is well adapted to agriculture, though this season the late frosts have injured the crops there had their crops greatly injured by early frosts. In all the other settlements visited the crops looked well. Mr. Stevens leaves in a few days to continue his inspection of the lands east of here, and expects to be away for a couple of months, winter permitting.

J. O. Parminster, immigration delegate of Webster Co., Missouri, returned home on Saturday after three weeks spent in the district. Mr. Parminster returns well pleased with the Edmonton district. With him he takes four potatoes grown on the Cut Bank farm, now owned by David Cameron. One of these potatoes weighs 2-1/2 lbs. and the four weigh 7 lbs. While en route here, at Calgary and other points, Mr. Parminster was told some hard tales of the Edmonton district, with a view to preventing his coming through. Around Edmonton, he was informed, they had frosts every month in the year. Hard wheat could not be grown here. The country was only good for stock and they had had to be fed seven months in the year, etc., etc. Having seen and satisfied himself Mr. Parminster intends selling his farm and returning to make his home here, this fall if possible.

FINE WEATHER AT LAST.

The weather during the latter half of last week was all that could be desired. Fine clear, days and frosty nights clearing away the light fall of snow and drying out the grain in stock so that stacking has been rapidly completed. Crops are in better shape than in the past, and while there is some loss the total loss after all will not be serious. Threshing has been going on, but has been delayed by the weather. Some farmers have suffered by threshing from the stock while the grain was wet and possibly there has been some grain stacked damp, but the proportion is not large. It is too bad that the losses of this year have occurred from the over anxiety of the farmers. A little waiting for cutting and stacking and there would have been absolutely no losses.

MORINVILLE

The first general meeting of the Morinville Flour Mill Co., was held at Morinville on October 11th. The provisional board of directors were elected for the ensuing year. The books and accounts were examined and pronounced satisfactory. A meeting of the directors was held on Oct. 23rd at which O. St. La Vallée was re-elected president, and Edmond Brissette, secretary.

WETASKIWIN

A case in the Justice's court which has been postponed three times, has at last been concluded. Last month T. C. Anderson, of the Dried Food, purchased from a man who had a car load of chickens, a number that had escaped and were running about the railway depot and grounds. A general hunt ensued in which rifles, shot guns and revolvers were brought into play, the result being that Anderson bagged 32 head of game. Mrs. Campbell, assumed that some of her chickens had been killed. Acting on this assumption she forthwith swore out an information against Anderson for killing game. The case was adjourned for one day and a half, at the end of which Mr. Rosenroth, the adjudicating justice, dismissed it with $5.40 costs.

A new court of the Independent Order of Foresters, with a large charter membership, was instituted here on Wednesday evening, Oct. 26th, at C. B. Stovel, D. S. C. R., of the order. The weather is all that could be desired during the day, but there are still heavy frosts at night. Threshing machines are having full work.

From word brought out by Dr. Bell's government geological survey party from Great Slave lake it appears that the examination of the shores of the lake did not show them to be as rich in valuable mineral deposits as was expected from the alleged assays of ore from there. Of course Dr. Bell's official report has not yet been prepared or published. Frank Gifford, of Cobourg, and Allan Ormrod, of Edmonton, who went down with the party as engineers, accompanied Dr. Bell from resolution to Fond du Lac and returned with him to Edmonton. Mr. Gifford states that all of the samples shown Dr. Bell by prospectors at the lake, he pronounced practically worthless. Very few, if any, contained mineral of any value, and then in traces so slight that the ore would not repay the cost of reduction. The galena ledge on the south shore of the lake crops out of a piece of swampy land and the formation of the country would not indicate that there was any valuable mineral likely to be found in the vicinity. This ore carried a large percentage of lead, but on account of its distance from a market it would not be worth developing. Dr. Bell estimated that if the lead were smelted at the lake and shipped out, after paying freight, it would clear about $1 a ton.

On the return trip, they had a tow from Resolution to Fort Smith behind the little steamer Argo, of the Great Slave lake Mining Co. From Fort Smith to Chipewyan they paddled in three and a half days, and from Chipewyan to McMurtry in seven and a half days. McMurtry to Grand Rapids took six days, and from the rapids to the Landing another six. These are days of actual travel. Considerable time was lost through high water and other causes.

Hon. Messrs. Sifton and Patterson and Messrs. Fraser and Logan, M. P., will address political meetings at the following points in Manitoba from October 23rd to November 4th: Winnipeg, Portage, McGregor, Gladstone, Neepawa, Minnedosa, Birtle, Windy City, Brandon, Virden, Elkhorn, Wabigoon, Carberry, Souris, Hartney, Melville, Deloraine, Boissevain, Killarney, Crayfish, Crat, Manitou, Morden.

LATEST WAR NEWS BY MAIL.

Tuesday evening Oct. 25th, is the latest news from Ladysmith contained in the papers arriving on Friday. Whether Gen. Yule had fought a battle at Dundee on Sunday or not was not stated, but he was certainly falling back to Ladysmith by rail to join Gen. Stewart White, having left his wounded in the hands of the Boers. On Monday Gen. White attacked and dispersed a Boer force seven miles from Ladysmith which was posted to prevent the junction of Gen. Yule's force with Gen. White's. The casualties on either side were slight, as neither party pressed the attack. It is believed that Gen. Yule joined Gen. White on Tuesday. It may have been that Gen. Yule's precipitate retreat was not because of defeat, but to prevent his being cut off from Gen. White and overwhelmed by the main army of the Boers. It is quite evident that the desperate fighting at Glencoe and Elandsdlaagte as well as at Mafeking have taught the Boers respect for the British that they did not feel before. This will stand the British in good stead in the great battle which is expected at Ladysmith in which the Boers will endeavor to crush Gen. White's force by greatly superior numbers before reinforcements arrive. It would appear that almost the whole armed force of the two republics has been concentrated in Natal for this purpose.

The capture of 80 Hussars mentioned in Thursday's despatches occurred after the battle of Glencoe. The Hussars pursued the enemy too far and were captured by the main army. It now appears that the effort of the Boers at that time was to surround the British advance force by these separate columns and annihilate them by superior numbers. But the three columns did not connect at the same time. Gen. Symons attacked and defeated the first to reach him which prevented his being surrounded, but has since been compelled to retreat before the united columns. The force posted at Elandsdlaagte to prevent any possibility of his joining Gen. Stewart was defeated by Gen. French, on Saturday and another like attempt was frustrated by Gen. White on Monday.

Calgary Herald: D. Murray, from Minnesota, went north this morning with a car of stock and settlers effect to settle in the vicinity of Edmonton.

The Cascade, B. C. Record, of Oct. 14th, announced that the C. P. R. rails would be laid into Greenwood on the 15th. Greenwood is only 16 miles from Midway, which is the present end of the line with no obstacles between.

A deputation of the MacLeod town council met the minister of justice at Calgary to press upon him the necessity of an appropriation for a court house. He told them that an appropriation had been made in last session's estimates, but owing to the absence of the minister of public works it with many other items had been struck out. He assured the deputation that an amount would be placed in the estimates next session.

WAR NEWS BY MAIL.

At Elandsdangte on Saturday, the 21st, the British were commanded by Gen. French, who was the first commissioner of the Northwest mounted police. The British advanced from Ladysmith. The force taking part were the 5th lancers, a squadron of the 5th dragoon guards, two field batteries, the Natal field battery, the Devonshire regiment, half the Manchester regiment, half the Gordon Highlanders, the Imperial light horse and two squadrons of Natal volunteers. The Boer force numbered about 4,000. Gen. Stewart White's official report of the engagement is as follows: "Although desultory fighting took place early in the day, while reinforcements, sent out later on, were ascertaining the enemy's strength, were arriving from Ladysmith, the real action did not begin until 3.30 p.m."

"At that hour the Boers held a position of very exceptional strength, consisting of a rocky hill about a mile and a half south of Elandsdangte station. At 3.30 p.m. our guns took a position on the ridge where we were one hundred yards from the Boers, whose guns at once opened fire. This fire was generally well directed, but somewhat high. Contrary to previous experiences, their shells burst well."

"The Imperial light horse moved towards the left on the enemy's position and two squadrons of the fifth lancers towards the right. During the artillery duel mounted Boers pushed out from their right and engaged the Imperial light horse. In a few minutes the enemy's guns ceased firing, and our artillery was turned on the mounted Boers, who had engaged the Imperial light horse, and who at once fell back. After artillery operations our infantry advanced to the attack, supported by our guns in the second position. The Devonshires held the enemy in front, while the Manchester regiment and Gordon Highlanders turned their left flank. The Boer guns, although often temporarily silenced, invariably opened fire again on the slightest opportunity, and were served with great courage."

"After severe fighting our infantry carried the position. This was accomplished at 6.30 p.m., the enemy standing their ground to the last with courage and tenacity. The fifth lancers and a squadron of the fifth dragoon guards charged thrice through the retreating Boers in the dark, doing considerable execution."

"We captured the Boer camp with tents, wagons, horses and also two guns. The Boer losses were very considerable, including a number of wounded and unwounded prisoners. Among the former are General Jan Kock and Piet Joubert, a nephew of Commandant-General Joubert. One goods train with supplies for the regiment was recovered."

"Our loss, I regret to say, was heavy. It is roughly computed at 150 killed and wounded. The collection of the wounded was over a large area in the dark and the arrangements for sending them in have thus far occupied our time and attention. Full list will go to you later. Our wounded and those of the enemy are now arriving by trains. Besides the Boers we have many Hollanders, Germans, and other prisoners of mixed nationalities. The behaviour of our troops and of the colonial forces was admirable."

On Sunday, the 22nd, the main Boer army under General Joubert, attacked the British advanced positions at Glencoe and Dundee, and according to telegraphic despatches compelled Gen. Yule, who succeeded General Symons, to retreat towards Ladysmith with a loss of 13 killed and 98 wounded, leaving his wounded in the hands of the Boers. Possibly the danger of being cut off from Ladysmith, 41 miles distant, was the principal reason for Yule's retreat. General Stewart's 88 hussars by the Boers mentioned in Thursday's despatches occurred by reason of their going too far in pursuit of retreating Boers after the battle of Elandsdangte, and running against the main body."

There is no doubt that the Boer plan is to concentrate all their forces in the effort to crush General Stewart White's forces in Natal before reinforcements arrive. His force numbers in all about 12,000 men, while the Boers have 30,000 or more.

On the Beaumont side Mafeking still holds out against General Cronje. A despatch from there dated Oct. 14th, says that the Boers, who had appeared in small bodies for some days before that morning invested the place in force. Col. Baden Powell attacked and drove them off for the time being with a British loss of two killed and fourteen wounded. The Boer loss was unknown. A despatch dated evening of October 14th states that the Boers placed a dynamite train outside of Mafeking and about 100 were killed and injured by the explosion. This is the latest report direct from Mafeking, as communication has been cut off by the Boers, but if the place had been taken the Boers would have spread the news.

Vryburg, 100 miles south of Mafeking and half way to Kimberley, was occupied by a small force of Bechuana-land police. The people of the town and surrounding country were chiefly Boers and therefore opposed to the British. On Sunday, the 15th, the police force evacuated the place which was occupied by the Boer force. Capt. Scott, commanding the police, was so chagrined at being compelled to give up the post that he shot himself."

Kimberley is surrounded and there have been several skirmishes, but no serious engagements have taken place. It is less than 100 miles from the Cape Colony boundary and the garrison has been re-inforced since war began. Cecil Rhodes is in Kimberley."

News from Rhodesia, of Oct. 16th, stated that several small bodies of Boers had crossed the Limpopo river which forms the boundary, on their way north. Preparations were being made to give them a warm reception. A British naval force with field guns landed at Simon's Town near Cape Town on the 26th and took the train north, probably for Kimberley or some other point on the Free State border.

LACOMBE

A. C. Milne went east on the 14th, he was informed, they had frosty every point east. Mr. Parminster was told and although he purchased a single ticket going, will probably purchase two on his return. Our young men are rapidly assuming the responsibilities of matrimony."

Mr. Duggan, of Calgary, made a business trip here a few days ago. The local buyer of cattle for his firm is W. Puffer."

The Presbyterian church young people gave a very pleasant social at the home of Mrs. Flewelling."

The Epworth League, of the Methodist church, gave an enjoyable "At Home" at the residence of the 18th."

The union thanksgiving service was held in the Presbyterian church. W. Barvis, of Calgary, made a business trip here last week. As usual he was quite successful in the insurance business."

Mr. and Mrs. Puffer spent Sunday in Olds."

Our immigrant shed is packed full of intending settlers who are anxious to get located before cold weather."

Quite a lot of the grain is not stacked yet, but the farmers are waiting in hope of better weather. The potatoes are being secured as fast as possible.

Oct. 23rd, '99.

Yorkton Enterprise: The northwest is a hard country for vegetarians to live in, a country where it was never intended vegetarians should live, or otherwise chickens, ducks and geese, game would not be so plentiful. If the Doukhobors had not been vegetarians their food supply would not be a matter of perplexity. To supply a heating producing diet, there are several barrels of raw linseed oil at the station for Doukhobor consumption."

The Qu'Appelle Progress says that that district experienced the first snowstorm of the season on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 12th and 13th. As a consequence thrashers had to quit work, and many a farmer is now regretting that he did not stack his grain."

Manitoba had 47,898 voters on the lists in 1895. The lists of 1899 show 63,160. An increase of over 15,000 voters in four years."
